Interview with Ms.Kelli

By: Rhea Suravaram and Jaileen Cruz

We were feeling curious, so we decided to interview Ms. Kelli. Here are some things we asked her, and her responses. First, we asked her what her very first job was, and she said that she worked at a car dealership. But she also told us that she was a babysitter in her neighborhood when she was younger. And, believe it or not, she did not always want to be a teacher. She told us that in elementary school and a little bit of middle school, she wanted to be an astronaut for a while. But when she went to college, she decided that she wanted to work at a school. Before she started working in the school preparation, she taught 3rd and 4th-grade classic.

By: Rhea Suravaram and Jaileen Cruz

We ran out of time in the interview, so we emailed her some questions. She told us that her biggest weakness is that she is late way too often. Did you know that she wants to learn Spanish? Her favorite kid movie is Shrek 2. For fun, we asked her to tell us what celebrity she would be if she could and why? Her answer was Oprah Winfrey! She said it was because she is very wise and loves to help others be their best self. She was born in Grand Rapids. She enjoys decorating. In five years she wants to help other people be their best, and she also wants to travel the world more often. She wishes she had the talent to be able to sing well, well enough that others sing along!

Thank you for your time!

History Of St. Patrick's Day

By: Tzaddik Kawano

St. Patrick's Day is a celebration of Irish culture, but how did this holiday originate? Saint Patrick was born on 386 A.D in Britain. He was kidnapped and taken to Ireland as a slave when he was 16 years old. Patrick managed to escape to Britain he later returned in about 432 A.D to convert the Irish to Christianity. He died on March 17th, 461 A.D. The holiday is now celebrated to commemorate Saint Patrick and the arrival of Christianity to Ireland. There are also many Irish foods and drinks made on this day, such as Shepherds Pie, Lamb stew, and Shamrock Shakes.

Interview with Ms. Heidi - Front Desk

By: Adyson VanLiere and Willow McKay

This month we decided to interview Ms. Heidi instead of a teacher. We thought that since she works at the front desk it would be very interesting.

To get to know her better, we figured we should have her tell us a bit about herself. She has worked here for 6 years but started out as a Parent Helper and did that for up to 30 hours a week until she decided to work here. A teacher that would prefer to remain unnamed told us that she was referred to as the ‘Boss Lady’, we asked her why that is and she said that it's because sitting upfront makes little kids think she runs the school and is the “Boss Lady” and one time a kid even said, “You should be nice to Ms. Heidi because she's the boss”. She loves working at the front desk and would much rather be there than teach, she loves seeing all the kids go by.

Interview with Ms. Heidi - Front Desk

By: Adyson VanLiere and Willow McKay

I'm sure many of you know Ms. Jane and how she is at the front desk sometimes, that is because 2 days a week Ms. Jane is there so Ms. Heidi can get more paperwork done that they need to send to the state. She stays at school from 8 - 4:30 even during the summer. At the front desk, she mainly does attendance and filing and her greatest fear that could happen at the school is a student getting injured. Since she is at the front desk people walk by talking about stuff a lot, but she rarely ever hears any drama. Although little kids do tend to tell her stuff, for example, what they had for dinner or what new toy they got.
